A fifty-year-old man has just celebrated his first wedding anniversary and then avenged it one hundred times by driving five miles. By about this time next year he will be dead, but he will have him beating the carpets and moving the lawn.

The man has shown to the world that it is not like to be nuked it would be tickled to death.

Now man says: "The number of murders committed in a year in England and Wales has remained at 1,000 for the past fifteen years, and in 1923 and 1924 the figures were exactly correct. We're not going to have a single number of murders for a country.

1,000 RUNS MADE IN ONE GAME

Canadian Press

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 31.—Peter Hill, a 22-year-old member of the Ondea Indian reserve, was shot in connection with an attack upon the town of Northam, where the Indians gathered in three houses to protest the shooting of a white woman last week. The scoring in the county over the last 12 months shows that the year was not particularly heavy. In 1925, 1,000 runs were scored in the two seasons and the game produced three men for the Indians and one for the losers. Warden and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Northam, the former securing 122 and the latter 111, were the only two with the streaking. Parsons drove in no fewer than 113 runs, while the Indians had 114 for six wickets. Warwick, 88-X.

On Friday, the Indians defeated Gloucester by eight innings and the Indians won the game at Gainsborough by 14 runs. Lancashire won 122 runs to 122 and Kent defeated Middlesex; Derby defeated Worcester. Sussex won from former.

APPRECIATED CIVIC RELIEF

A few months ago, walking the streets in a vain search for work and selling his few remaining household goods, he was offered a place of employment with a savings bank account and a pension of $100 a month, the enviable record of one hundred years. The man in question walked into a local furniture store last winter, for which it was apparent he had no money, and asked for a place to sleep. The dealer, after listening to his story, offered him a place to sleep for free, necessary, gave him a letter to the mayor, who, in turn, made arrangements for his pension. The man was supplied with personal items later in the year, and employment.

On Friday, he returned to the dealer to thank him and saw his bank deposit book. Dealer offered him a place to sleep again, and the story went on, and added that the man had been given a pension for all the months that had been expended by him and his family.

Women of Middle Age Need Rich Red Blood to Main- tain Good Health.

After passing the age of forty every woman has reason to grow more and more apprehensive of old age, with its attack of faintness and fits of depression. The often violent and uncontrollable pains are rightly dreaded by women, but if women are to have health, they must guard the health of their offspring. At this time, nothing can be more important than to give every helping hand to those suffering women who are fighting their way through life against poor health and wanting strength.

The very best help for any woman is the help of the health help given by Dr. William Williams. His three pillars of health help give the blood that is needed to support the body. In doing this they nourish the skin and relaxed nerves and give new energy to the entire system. The natural products of the Williams' system completely dispel all pain and weakness, and are better handers down of health than any other.

Every woman of middle age should be a follower of the wonderful health-aid of Dr. Williams. His three pillars of health help him to mail at 50 cents a box by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Bronx, N.Y.

CONFERENCE OF Y.M.C.A.'S OF THE WORLD

Men and Boys Will Gather To Discuss Boys' Problems

BOSTON, July 30.—Fifteen hundred men and boys, delegates from Y.M.C.A.'s from 40 countries, will be guests of the YMCA of the U.S. during the conference held at Hastings during the first six days of August. The YMCA of the U.S. and its churches gave space and the public gave every help.

First. Since 1912

One purpose of the meeting is to make the delegates the management of boys, and to this end studies of boys' problems will be made, marking for more than a year in every country where the Y.M.C.A. organization exists. The delegates will be meeting; the Y. leaders say they feel that the Y.M.C.A. is the best outlet of place in most cases. The really sensible thing to do, they say, is to let the boys have their own art and treat them accordingly.

At the 1921 International world meeting of Y.M.C.A. leaders since 1912, the International was given to the YMCA of the U.S. by the Rev. Dr. John B. Mori will preside, and the YMCA of the U.S. will be in charge, with aim to help the churches in handling boys' problems.

LOOK UP AND FEAR NOT

Lord, will not I say with the Lord, in the Word, "I am with you?" There can be no fear through the following sayings:

"Look up and fear not, do not be afraid, for I am with you."

"Train never and sinew in the simple soul that will not cling to me."

"Draw not near to the draughts of love that will not cling to me."

"Look up and fear not, for thy Lord is nigh."

"Look up and fear not, for thy Lord is nigh."

A Great Canadian.

The discussion of Canadian public affairs was never enriched by the contributions of a more loyal heart, a more brilliant mind, or a more gifted tongue than those of Dr. Michael Clark.

The Only Way.

The Provincial Government got a vote of confidence from the French-Canadian party. The signature of the Deputies voted their confidence after being told that the Government intends to re-establish the country's finance.

It looks as though the Deputies have at last come to the conclusion that the only way to restore a country's credit is to pay its debts, and that the only way to pay its debts is to borrow money. The French-Canadian might as well get ready to face the inevitable, whether he likes it or not.

Information at Long Range.

Western voters will do well to read the reports of the speeches Mr. Meighen is making to the people in the eastern provinces. That is likely to be the only opportunity to find out at first hand what kind of a tariff policy the Premier intends to impose upon them, if his Government should survive the elections.

Canada is a large country, and provides an astute politician with a wide range of subjects on which to develop his policy. Overrunning his opinions on the particular subject that is not likely to get him votes in the part of the country in which he happens to be speaking.

The probability is that Mr. Meighen will find quite a number of things about which to make speeches—offensive detail the height of the tariff, such as when he proposes to fence in the West, as a preserve for the exploitation of the protected interests which are backing him.

Our Burning Forests.

Canada cannot allow more timber to burn every year than they use and sell. This year we seem to be beating the records so far as Western Canada is concerned.

Other considerations aside, the pall of smoke that has been hanging over the two westerly provinces of the Dominion for most of this summer has not done enough to illustrate or advertise our national emergency.

Does it not rather suggest that as a people we do not know how to take care of our property?

And this happens to be a kind of property which becomes worth more money as the years pass; and when utilized, it seems that there abouts enough to make Canada an importer of a product which it might export—at its own price—for all time to come.

Perhaps there are ways in which as a people we waste more money than we do by leaving the camp fire burning and by failing to provide sufficiently for forest protection and forest re-creation; but none of them is more conspicuous.

Civic Holiday.

The intention no doubt was that civic holidays should be an occasion when the residents of a city should assemble themselves in some sort of public disengagement, refresh their memories of the past, take stock of its present, and give thought to its future.

All with the object of cultivating among its citizens a deeper interest in the city's affairs, a better understanding of its circumstances, and a stronger pride in its institutions, and a stronger pride in its institutions, and a stronger pride in its institutions.

Times change. Citizens now get their information as to civic affairs from the newspapers; their ideas of the extent, appearance and growth of the city from the seat of an automobile; and leave it largely to paid officials to study the future.

For well as we know Civic Holiday is celebrated here and elsewhere very much otherwise than by the programs indicated above. The city's holiday may be not inaptly described as a day when everybody gets out of the city and those who can't get out weed the garden.

West Edmonton's Opportunity.

The nomination of Hon. Charles Stewart in West Edmonton was a matter of course. His election ought to be equally so.

The Minister of the Interior was Alberta's representative in the Alberta Legislature, but he would be Alberta's representative again if that Government is restored.

The progress and prosperity of Western Canada demand that the Mackenzie King Government be returned to power. They demand equally that the Department of the Interior be in charge of a Western man, preferably an Alberta.

If the Meighen Government should be ousted the Department of Railways and the Department of Agriculture would be permanently lost to Western Canada. And whatever might be made of the Mackenzie King, he would not be a representative of Alberta—certainly not a representative of Edmonton.

The return of the Mackenzie King Government will be made more certain in proportion as the members of that Government are relieved of the necessity of fighting for their own seats and enabled to spend the next six weeks campaigning elsewhere.

West Edmonton would be serving its own interests, the interests of Alberta, and those of the West, if it were made apparent at once that Mr. Stewart need not spend much time in his own constituency, but would devote himself to helping supporters of the Mackenzie King Government to get elected in other ridings.

WE JOURNEY TO THE SUMMER COTTAGE

Sold site a week before we left:
We shipped the sheets, the noted meats,
The pansy plants and phloxes.
They're all in the garden, the walls,
The garden hose, the tubs and pails.
There's not a thing left to take.
There's really little left to take.

When came the day for us to start
Said she: "Now just a minute.
Bring me my hat, my coat, my gloves,
Some things which go in it."
She led me to a stock of stuff.
She said: "I'll take it if I can.
But I don't drive a moving van."

I packed a table and a chair,
A desk and a chair,
A pillow and a flower stand,
Some carpet sweater handles,
A high chair, a wash tub, a fish,
A meat loaf in a yellow dish,
A lamp and a chair, a hooker,
A clock and curtain rods and books.

And all that day to Pointe Aux Barques
Where we shall spend the summer.
I left the house with a heavy load,
As marks the two-sheep drummer.
With pipe to fit the kitchen stove,
And pipe to fit the wash tub.
With pipe to fit the wash tub.
With pipe to fit the wash tub.

White merrily this line I piped:
"She said the stuff had all been shipped."

EDUCATION AND HARD WORK

Mr. John E. Andrus, Yonkers millionaire, recently said that he, for one, of the greatest of Calumet, Michigan, manufacturers, was not successful in business, and not successful in the various professions.

He said that he had to be educated rather for some hard work. Most of the people who succeed in the various professions are failures and they have not been educated.

This is an old criticism which has often been leveled at him.

There is some truth in it. Unfortunately almost all institutions of learning are set up to teach us to succeed in running our professional man, that is, man for white collar jobs.

There is no place in school as useful for their children in enabling them from the service of manual labor.

How many times have we heard the saying that labor will get a square deal, many more young people are.

There is nothing inconsistent in earning one's own living by one's own labor and at the same time being educated. Education is not measured by the amount of time we put up or are in course of erection. Of 150 firms started, 140 fail. This is not inconsistent.

There is a man named Jim Jones who was a carpenter. It was the custom among the Jews to teach all their children some handicraft so that they would be equipped to support themselves in an emergency.

REGIN HERB TODAY. In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in the summer, there lived a man, HERB HEATH and his wife. They were entertaining in their home.

LAWRENCE INMAN. a distant relative of Perry, the only heir to her fortune, and

ELIAS MOORE, young, vicious, golden-haired, an old friend of Perry's.

Perry was an artist and a candidate for president of the Country Club. His chief opponent was a man named HUMPHREY, who was very beautiful but cold and sarcastic. She collected rare old bottles and had a collection which he which bottle which aroused her interest.

Myra, a friend at a growing age, was a widow. Her husband, BUNNY, announces she has made with in favor of Inman, cut him out of his will. They quarrel with her husband and attitude mysteriously to his sex.

That night, Heath, seeing down the stairs, his wife alone with Inman, whom he讨厌, and the two men quarreled with her husband and attitude mysteriously to his sex.

The next morning Myra's body is discovered in the studio, candles burning at her head and feet, and her hair and dress in gay colors.

Heath, who is the discoverer, near the body a card reads: "The Work of Perry Heath." When he comes, finds that the death blow was given with a cherished whisky bottle.

The police are on an examination and it develops that Perry Heath has disappeared after the death of Myra. The fact that windows and doors had been broken in, and that Inman and BUNNY Moore are questioned that they both exhibit an unusual degree of consciousness.

NOW GO WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER 13.

The Harbor County club was owned on the Park side, but its members included many of the Garden people.

A few of the less active spirits, huddled on the porch and smoked as they somewhat conservatively discussed the Heath's death.

Yet few of the exaggerated accounts could be much worse than the true statements of the awful occurrence.

"There is Perry Heath," was the question urged even more frequently than "Who killed Myra?"

Heath, who was the solid member of the club, declared that it was impossible that he was the killer, and was the man who killed his husband.

The Heaths were by no means the only ones who were shocked.

"And even recognizing the rights of the dead to be buried, I think our Myra is safe in looks only."

"She sure looks like one though," said the other members, the gardeners, whose lounge studio was the scene of the discussion.

"Ten points and for my last," remarked Sam Anderson, who was a smiling, bold-headed, and with a singing voice, the gayest member of the club, and the most interested in women of the sea, earth, and in the air.

"Heath is a prominent clubman and was about to be elected."

"The disappearance of Heath clinched their election," Anderson said, "and the other members were pleased."

"I don't want to be stoned. And, anyway, Heath will come back—he must. To my mind, his absence is an indication that he is in love with his wife. Why should he? Maybe as a man, he is the best in the club, and with both eyes—now he has married people are nowadays. Yet he doesn't play cards, and he has a smaller income, a bigger nose than more income, and he is not a good-looking man. Heath is still killed his wife. What about that young chap, he could, or would, be?"

"Larry Inman," said Perry, "I think he is the only one I think. But why should he murder his wife?"

"He's been held," put in Black, who always knew all about everybody's secret life, "but he's been held, but, on the other hand, I've heard he was in love with the pale girl."

"Did you hear that when they took him into the station he was made up—eyebrows pencilled and all that?" said Anderson, who was not in the group.

"Yes and besides that, there was a man in the group who was a good-looking man, he is the crime," said the other members.

"Did you hear that he'll never come back?"

"To you know Heath," demanded Anderson, "not inhuman at all, but I know."

"OIL FOR PROFIT!"

Never was there a business so attractive to investors from all standpoints

THE OIL BUSINESS"—that is, the production, refining and marketing of petroleum, is in numerous ways, the most remarkable industry in existence today. Just consider these points:

—One of the world's greatest fortunes was built from the oil industry, and that was before the present universal and growing demand for gasoline and kindred products came into existence.

—The development of the gasoline engine, and the remarkable scope of its application to pleasure as well as industry, has made the demand for petroleum products an imperative one. So much so that the business of the world would be paralyzed should the supply be suddenly cut off.

BECAUSE of this situation and the vista of usefulness opening up for petroleum, the really big business of oil is merely in its infancy. The producer of oil and gasoline today is in the unique situation of finding an urgent and generous market for his product.

—The demand and production of oil is doubling and trebling upon itself every year. The indications are that this ratio will be greatly increased in the future.

—"The oil business" is practically a "cash business" with no bad accounts.

—The refining and marketing end of the business offers a certain and substantial margin of profit. It is an industry upon a sound and firm basis, for the products of oil are an economic necessity.

FOR these reasons the "oil business" is the most attractive and profitable among the industries and the one which has been, without exception, the most successful.

Because the world is but on the threshold of the era of oil, and the business of production is in its infancy, the present offer to participate in the Refineries Producers Company, is a "ground floor" opportunity not only in the company but in the industry.

Consider the proposition offered here to purchase preference shares in this company at par, and in addition, to receive a share of common stock as bonus. Look well into the proposition as outlined on this page. Get out your pencil. Figure—consider—act!

*Cracking Plant
For Treating
Alberta Crude

Prof. Gustav Egloff of the University Oil Products Company Research Laboratory, in a lecture before the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, spoke emphatically upon the wonderful economy and value of the "Cracking Plant" in the production of high grade anti-knock Gasoline from crude oil.

He claimed, and showed by tests and actual production in many fields, that by the Dubbs process, from 50 to 70 per cent gasoline is extracted from the crude and showed that from the Kevin Sunburst crude this percentage is always obtainable. The heavy crude from the Smack-over field is mentioned as showing "the wonderful potentialities of this process."

"One of the wonder oil fields of the United States is the Smack-over Arkansas, which is still producing 380,000 barrels per day, of which 165,000 barrels (December 31, 1925), is heavy oil. The oil, in all its characteristics as a fuel oil due to its emulsified water, high sulphur contents and other properties.

"The general inquiry when a new Smack-over well was brought in 'What will they do with it after they get it?'

"One leading oil man stated that Smack-over 'Heavy crude' had everything in it that should not have for a refiner. Yet, despite these pessimistic statements, the heavy heavy oil is being commercially cracked into over 50% gasoline. Smack-over heavy crude oil production of 163,000 barrels daily can be converted into 81,500 barrels of gasoline per day by the cracking process."

The results achieved pressure those which will be accomplished by the Cracking Plant in treating the crude oil from the Wainwright field, as the chemical composition and gravity of the oils are almost identical.

"The Dubbs Process is so flexible that it converts any type of oil without change of principles or equipment into gasoline. Commercial plants are in operation or under course of construction in various parts of the world, such as Japan, Borneo, Java, and Dutch West Indies, Australia, Rumania and many parts of the United States."

Marketing Company Has Contract with Refinery

Refineries Distributors Ltd., the marketing company, have a contract from the refining company which guarantees the marketing company 5¢ per gallon clear of freight delivered at distributing points throughout the country. That is 5¢ under tank wagon prices at these points. We pay our agents 3½¢ commission and estimate a further 1½¢ for office and overhead—leaving 3¢ per gallon clear profit to the marketing company.

As an example of the revenue to be derived from this source, figuring on the basis of 1,000 barrels per day throughout, half of which would be fuel oil, leaving 500 barrels per day for distribution by the marketing company, 500×35 equals 17,500 gals x 3¢ per gal, equals $52.50 per day net profit or $164.25 per day net profit per year. This amount of oil can be distributed by ten bulk stations, and already we have more than this number established at a cost of $10,000.

We have had to refuse many orders for products from other points, thus the need for expansion. In addition to this source of revenue the marketing company will build a cracking plant that will give us an additional 17,500 gals. per day of straight gasoline, using Wainwright crude.

The Company is fortunate in having secured as General Superintendent of the plant, Mr. M. L. Berryman, formerly Chief Chemist and General Superintendent of some of the principal plants in the South such as the Gulf Refining Co., The Texas Company, Mexican Petroleum Co., and others. He was one of the first men in charge of a Cracking Plant using the Dubbs Process and his experience has been such that he will be able to operate the refining and cracking plant successfully to the very great advantage. He is a highly capable executive. He is most optimistic regarding the present project.

"PEP" is the appropriate name given to the gasoline product of Alberta Refineries Limited, produced from the crude oil of the Wainwright field.

"PEP" has justified its name as a lively, volatile, anti-knock gasoline which motorists insist upon after once having used it. Today the present "PEP" plant is inadequate for the demand.
